ROCKY MOUNTAINS

Get Wild in the Rocky Mountains

Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, New Mexico... When we think of travelling to the Rocky Mountains, we may feel as if we're going home. Moose, black bears, lynxes, bison, magnificent elk and bighorn sheep thrive here. Hundreds of species of grass feed them, and alpine lakes dot the land. The Continental Divide runs through the Rockies—this is the line at which waters flow either to the Atlantic or the Pacific. It's an invisible coastline of sorts. Perhaps it tells us which direction is the home of our hearts. Come and discover yourself.

INSPIRATIONAL ITINERARIES

Let us Customize One for You.

WYOMING - MONTANA

Wild Buffalo, the Tetons, and Yellowstone

You will connect, authentically, with the natural world when you experience the majesty of Jackson Hole, the Grand Tetons, and Yellowstone. Jackson is both cowboy and cosmopolitan—fancy buildings stand next to 19th century log cabins. There are culinary adventures and mountain men. The scenic backdrop is beyond words. Did we say that The National Museum here has works by Andy Warhol and Georgia O'Keefe?

As for Yellowstone? Oh my. Standing at a geyser that looks as if it erupted from the center of time is a pure mystery. Rafting a raw river, and the power you feel in active travel, is beyond understanding. Bison and elk are more common than tourists. Explore the meadows and glacial lakes. This is the American West at its finest. Get inside it and live.

AUTHENTIC EXPERIENCES

Explore the possibilities. Any of these, and more, could be yours.

- Horseback Ride overlooking the Tetons
- Private Yellowstone Safari Tour
- White Water Rafting on the Snake River
- Fly Fishing with an Experienced Guide
- Scenic Dinner Cruise on Jackson Lake

COLORADO

Into the Wild Rocky Mountains

We come to the Rocky's when we need renewal and wonder. Denver is a good jumping-off place and a perfect combination of the New West and Western lore. Stretch out from here, and you'll reenergize at the world's largest hot springs—the mineral waters are a balm. (Meet a burro on the way.)

Explore the Canyon of the Ancients, and check out a few wineries nearby, producing organic wines. Raft a clear river, take a steam-train through the canyons and mountains of a National Forest, treat yourself to local arts and jewelry. Stay in a century-old resort spa, and historic hotels. Adventure into the wilds, and savor authentic western cooking. Be well, and feel exuberant.
